WONDAY AFTERNOON, DEC. 27. THE Courier promises that Rome will do her part in welcoming the excursionists from the northwest. "She has more resources to show," says the Courier "than any other city in Georgia, and she need not be ashamed to show them." ---

THE Columbus papers announce the death of Col. J. T. Blount at his mother's residence in Talbot county. His age was about 35. When the war commenced he was a cadet at West Point. tween a few whites and blacks, which pearing's Georgia artillery. In the numerous engagements of the army of nortnern Virginia he won the rank of captain, and then major, and at He h's capture of Plymouth, a federal supply base on the North Carolina coast, he was promoted on the tield to lieutenant colonel of artillery for gallantry. In that nel of artillery for gallantry. In that desperate fight he moved his battalion of artillery in advance of the Confederate line of battle until the last foothold of the federal garrison was taken.

THE pay of jurors has been reduced in Floyd county to one dollar a day. The Cave Springs Enterprise complains that this reduction is the only reform in the proposed scheme of retrenchment for that county which has been carried out.

The tax receiver still gets his $1,200 cr more, the collector his $1,700, or $1,800, the county treasurer his $800 or more, the county board their $2 a day each for the county obstatistics and the clerk of the board his $30 a month, and the jailer his enormous 'ees for boarding prisoners, until recently they were reduced from 60 to 45 cents a day. What is the con-sequence? Why, taxes are higher this year than last. All this is going on while jurymen that have to pay the bulk of these are compelled to quit their business, no matter how pressing, and go to Rome and serve on the jury, for 8 or 10 weeks of the year, for less pay than their actual expenses. We do not believe it is right for jurymen to serve for nothing and pay a little cash out of their pockets to boot, while a'l other county officials get full pay and some of them exorbitant sala-

Col. Hardaway estimates that the plant ers in lower Georgia will lose this year seventeen dollars a bale on the present crop, making the total actual loss in Georgia fully seven million dollars. On this account the planters will be unable to meet their engagements with the merchants, the merchants will be unable to aid the planters with supplies the coming year, and the planters will be unable to give employment to the laborers now dependent upon them. In its last analysis the all'cotton plan falis the heaviest on the laborer. Col. H. gives the planters much valuable advice, every line of which we would cheerfully publish if we could spare the space. As it is, we cull the following paragraphs:
Select your best land the coming year

Select your best land the coming year, and reduce the number of acres to the horse. Concentrate your manure on these reduced acres. This will reduce the amount to pay for labor, food, team and tools; and by strict personal attention to business you will make as much or more than you have been making by the unwise plan of trying to make large crops on poor lands with poor mules, worn out tools and lazy laborers; and it will not ruin you to feed them with corn and bacon bought on credit. It is folly to plant forty and fifty acres of poor land to the horse, at such a great ontlay to plant forty and fifty acres of poor land to the horse, at such a great ontlay of money for labor, food, team and tools; when, by a wise and judicious selection of the land and proper manuring, the same quantity of produce can be raised on one fourth of the land.

What is the remedy for relief, in the embarrassed condition of the country? Planters must raise everything they eat, and to supply the non-producers. To do and to supply the non-producers. To do this, they must increase the grain crops; plant heavily of corn, oats, rye, wheat, ground peas, chufas, sweet potatoes and sugar cane, and largely increase their stock of hogs. If this is done, cotton will have a small showing. Under no circ stock of hogs. If this is done, co'ton will have a small showing. Under no circumstances should more than one-third of the crop be of cotton.

Everything is in a state of dilapidation and run, and we continue to involve ourselves by buying mules, provisions and tools to supply improvident, ignorant managers. This cropping and rentag system must be abandoned, and we must take the management of our own cate our children, without the extra burden of taking care of the negro. He must learn to think, act and supply himself.

At the same time we must advise him and give him employment and fair wages. We are dependent one upon the other. He has the labor and the muscle, and we the land and capital; and we must help each other; and in such a manner as to have impartial justice to each; so that fair compensation will be had in labor and pay. We occupy the same land, and fair compensation will be had in labor and pay. We occupy the same land, and must live together, and should, therefore, strive to live in peace and harmony and labor for each other's good—social-

Both the Willers depy this and say that Both the Willers deny this, and say that while Bristow and his brother-in-law have always been friendly, they are not at all intimate, further than that Bristow always puts up at the Galt house, and votes in the ward in which residents of the hotel mentioned are required to do

HAMILTON, BERMUDA, December 22.

—A fearful tornado passed over Tuckerstown and St. David's Island on the evening of the 17th. The house of Dan'l General and Sole Agent for Southern Agent glance from his vis-a-vis reminded him of what he was about to say, and the sentence died out. The Babcock relative apparently did not notice the awkward predicament that she had barely escaped. Walking in the street the next day with a young officer of the army, she came to the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Fourteenth A. Smith, a well known pilot of Tuck-erstown, was blown into the harbor with all its inmates. Capt. Smith was hurled into a clump of trees and saved. His wife was carried across the harbor, and she had barely escaped. Walking in the street the next day with a young officer of the army, she came to the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Fourteenth street, when the shrill cries of the newsboy interrupted the conversation. One sprightly youth, unconscious of his victum, came up to the couple, crying excitedly, "Here's your fine telegram; full yound to the indictment of Babcock." It is needless to say that that small boy didn't sell his paper to that company.

Sir—It affords me great pleasure in recommending your have able medicine to the public as an Op'um Antidote, for as such it has more than proved itself in my case.

I am confident that had I taken Morphine two weeks longer I could not have survived its effects, for it had alroat entirely destroyed my strength of mind and body, but by the hand of rrovidence I was led to try your Antidote.

I first obtained one bottle on trial and from the first bottle I took i have been feeling better, and I therefore continued the use of it until I am now eabled to say that I am released from the Oplum Habit, as well as from the use of the Antidote.

It effected the cure in abouteight months, taking in all nine and a half bottles, and from the first bottle I took i have been improving in health and strength, so that I am now enabled to say that I am feeling better, am stronger and weigh more than for the last three years of my sickness.

I would have written you sooner, for I stopped the Antidote about four months ago, but have been waiting to be sure that my cure was permanent, of which I am now confident.

Hoping that all your patients may meet with the same success as myself, and thay you and your medicine may prosper as before, I remain truly yours, de to die yet, and they put me to one dose of morphine per twenty-four hours, and this I followed for about two years. When I was without they gave me some more. I had, before this, lost my appetite and most of my flesh. I used to weigh one hundred and eighty-four pounds; I now weigh one hundred and fif.een, and I found I could not live without morphine. The desire was greater than my resolution, and I thought I might as well have it and die—so I commenced buying it bo the bottle to save expense: And I practiced in this way for one year. At this time I began to think that I might recover and live yet many years. My constitution did not seem much impaired, but the thought that I must use morphine always or suffer the horror of going without was yevy trying and painful. I could not eat becaused I loved it, and every expedient was resorted to to get something that I could eat. My neighbors wery very kind to send me something.

About this time I read in a newspaper that Dr. Collins, of Indians, had an Autidote that was painless, and a sure cure, if directions were followed, and it was witnessed by zeeming good authority.

I sat down and wrote to him, making some inquiries, but not sending for ptly, cine, and he answered me very prom and and urgently pressed me take courage try it.

So I sont for a bottle and it came in good order.

My neighbors thought it a humbug, and I feared it was no better. But I commenced taking it, I teaspoonful at a dose and after taking the first dose I had no more desire for morphine. It is now about three months since I began to take the Antidote and I don't seem to want either morphine or the antidote-but I am not as well as I sick, and I am three years older. And I have some Antidote left and I take some every day, not because I feel the want of it, but because I haveit.

I have gained in flesh from 115 to 147 1-2 pounds, and my appetite is good—I fear a little roo good.

And Dr. Collins' Antidote has done this, for I have taken nothing else. And I can recommend his antidote to anybody that wants to be cured, as an infallible remedy if directions are followed.

I have found Dr. Collins a sympathizing friend, and faithful and honest, and he seems anxious to do a person good.

The New Librarian.

WHO IS HE?

On account of the general interest in our library, the above question has been frequently asked. E. Bennett Chamberlino the new librarian elect, was born in Port Bullivan, Milam county, Texas, in 1851. It is mother of our popular fellow citizen, E. F. Chambellin. His mother was an older brother of our popular fellow citizen, E. F. Chambellin. His mother was the daughter of Jared Irwin, one of the heroes who fell in defense of his country at the battle of Roamoske in Stewart country, the came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his parent, he came to Atlanta to live with his uncle, and worked in his uncle's store, and in a short time made himself very useful, and at the age of 18 years was securing a salary of $75 a month. By too close application to business his healit gave way, which necessitated rest, and he spent a year in the north and west recuperating. Since his return he has been employed part of the time with his uncle, and the value of the scolelation. We think the Young Men's Christian Association. We think the Young Men's Library Association have been fortunate in securing an efficient man as librarian, and we feel justified in view of the above facts in congratulating the association, without any reference to the efficiency of the other aspirants to the office.

A reporter of THE CONSTITUTION called at the office of the society in this city, and was informed that the above was substantially correct. Col. Lawton has secured the society against loss of its funds, and in a manner satisfactory to the executive committee: If is understood, however, that the funds are not immediately availato le, and may not be for some weeks. It is due Col. Lawton to say that has repaired the trouble caused to the society as best be

OF THE NOBLE REX.

His majesty directs the undersigned to order that all persons friendly to his cause will display at once, and in conspicuous manner, the royal colors, black and yellow, in such manner as will attract public attention. Therefore, without hesitation the faithful will hang from the "outward walls" the royal insignia. His majesty directs me to further thank his followers for the manifest interest already shown to the cause, and bids them wait "yet a little while" his gicrious coming.

The January number is at hand. This little book is a valuable companion for the traveler, and is very useful for office reference. It is a pocket edition of the "Traveleers" official Railway Guide," and gives each month the time tables in force upon sil the railroads in the county. It states the population of each station named, and shows if it has a telegraph office. There is also a condensed description of all the principal cities and towns very convenient for reference. As an official railway publication it should be in the hands of all travelers. For sale by all newsdealers and on trains. Price 25 cents in this city, and as we have never heard it made by either Judge Lochrane or any one else in the city, we must presume it to be one of those strange reports of home affairs which are the newsiest to those who should first have known the things thus told. Here is the item as it appears in the World:

"When the firm of West, Edwards & Co. failed in Georgia the members turned over to their counsel, Judge Lochrane, for his services in securing a compromise with their creditors, a secured note for $10,000. He gave up the note lest the creditors should think injustice had been done to them, and will take the risk of being paid by the insolvents."

The next semi-annual meeting of the State Agricultural society will be held at Brunswick, on the 8th day of Jacuary, 1876, and will remain in session for three days. The meeting is made up of three delegates from each county society in the state, and there are generally from 250 to 300 delegates in attendance.

charge of refusing to take bond from a prisoner on the probable amount of fine.

Dr. Pendleton says that his report upon the operations of the experimental farm will be the most interesting one he has yet made. It will be a detail of the experiments of the past year to ascertain the cost of production of cotton and the cereals, considered with respect to the three elements which enter most prominently into their production, viz.: food, labor and ferthiz rs. This will be alone worth the trip to Brunswick and is a subject which our farmers need to discurs.

PROF. WM. LE ROY BROUN,

The Message.

The governor has entered upon the labor of writing his annual message to the general assembly. The forthcoming document will be shorter than some of its predecessors, but will be looked for with quite as much interest. The main point, the public naturally supposes, will be the treasury affairs, and upon this subject there is very great interest manifested. The accompanying documents to the message will also be quite interesting to the public. While preparing his message the governor will attend to only such other matters as may absolutely caim prempt attention. Hence there will be a dearth of news to the department for some days.

The driver of the following carriage and its occupants were urged to jump from the vehicle from the dangerous approach of the train. The driver jerked his herses' heads from the way of the rushing avalanche of death and thus barely escaped a terrible entastrophe. death and thus parely escaped a terrible catastrophe.

This case of reckless engine-driving, (reckless, for want of proper warning at a crossing,) was happily unattended with a horror, but so nearly did it come to one that those who escaped tremble at the thought of their imminent peril at the momen'!

Christmas Festivities.

Christmas at St. Paul's.

There was a Christmas tree festival for the children at St. Paul's (Methodist) church, on Hunter street, last evening. The church was crowded with the good people of the vicinity, and the air resounded with the joyous songs of the children, halling once again the presence of the feast which cails to mind the birth of a Savier to mankind.

There was a splendid Christmas tree, loaded with presents for the good little boys and girls of the Sabbath school, and the gladness and meriment which beamed from the faces of the delighted recip ents were pleasing to witness.

The school sang "Hold on" and "Christmas Carols." Among the spee al presents given out was one to Mrs. W. A. Dodge of a $1,000 policy on the l'fe of Rev. W. A. Dodge, in the Widow and Orphans fund insurance company. This reporter was remembered in the shape of a handsome doll. W. H. Frizzell presented the church with two handsome collection boxes. Ex-Alderman J. C. Watkins filled the role of Santa Cl us, but who Mrs. Santa Claus was is a mystery. St. Paul's always gets up a big crowd, and does everything on a big scale.

There wil be a supper given to the children of Trinity Sabbath school this evening at the church. Those who latend contributing to it will please send in their favors early as possiple to day; by order of the committee.

FIRST METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPPER.

The children of the First Methodist church were given a supper at the orphan's free school last night, corner Walfon and Forsyth streets. The display of good things was tempting in the extreme, and the little ones did full justice to them, The school, led by Frof. Courtney their superintendent, sang, "Joy to the world, the Lord is come," "Coronation," and other song, in a manner that made the roof quiver, and filled the room with melody. While Prof. Courtney was getting ready to sing, W. P. Lavahs respect for any or and the charte and respectively.

Before West could recover himself the pegragain raised the gun barrel and struck West a second heavy blow on the head. This blow staggered Mr. West and the negro then broke away, and started off at full speed. While he was running the officers fired four shots at him, but unfortunately he escaped. West's blows were severe, but that stoutheasted officer had his head doctored and went back on duty the next day. We are glad to say he is rapidly recovering. What he says hurts him most is losing his darkey, but he hasn't yet given up all hopes of meeting him some day and squaring accounts.
